Dear student

Re: Your next step at New City College

Congratulations. You have completed the 2019/20 academic year at New City College. And what a year it has been. When we started out in September we had no idea that our college experience and our lives outside of college would change so drastically.

We would like to say once again how proud we are of all our students for keeping up with your learning over the last few months. We've also been very impressed at the extra activities that many of you have been involved with during the lockdown period – from talent shows, to skills competitions, course showcases, and voluntary work. We know many of you have also been juggling family commitments alongside all of this. All of these valuable experiences will put you in a strong position for your studies next year.

What next?

You will have discussed your next step with your teacher, tutor or coach, and we will be delighted to see you back at New City College next term. You should receive a separate email to confirm your new course, or the 2nd year of your current course. Please reply to that email to secure your place. You will then be sent your learning agreement to sign and return, digitally. As usual, study for 16-18 year olds will be free next year. Adults who need to pay fees will need to either come to college or pay online or by phone, and we will send you information about this. Make sure you look out for any information from us on your college email account as this is how we will tell you about when you need to start your next course. Also keep an eye out on our website for the latest news and updates.

If you have any questions about your next step at New City College, or you do not receive an email about your next course, please contact info@ncclondon.ac.uk

Exam results

If you would have taken an exam this year, your grade will have been calculated from the work you did before lockdown. We will contact you to let you know how to find out your results.

A return to college in September

We have worked hard to make sure that all our campuses are safe, and we have adapted our classrooms, workshops and social spaces in line with the health and safety guidance. As you know, public health guidance is being updated all the time and we are working hard to make sure that all our students and staff will be able to stay safe and well on campus.

We expect that some learning will take place remotely next year, but we understand that the college experience is very important to you and so we hope that you will be able to spend time on campus too. No doubt things will change, but we have shown this term how as a college community we can adapt and make great things happen, whatever the situation.

We can't wait to see you in September. We hope you have a relaxing summer break.

Warm wishes
All at New City College
