

Initial Police Learning & Development Programme

IPLDP continues to be open for application

- Our well established Initial Police Learning & Development Programme (IPLDP) is a two year programme delivered at The Met's own internal training sites (Hendon or Sidcup).
- Like the PCDA and DHEP you'll undertake most of your learning on the frontline alongside your experienced colleagues, where you'll be fully supported in putting your classroom based learning into practice as part of your operational duties. You won't work towards a degree level qualification as part of this programme but you'll still receive the best possible training to fully equip you for the challenges of policing London
- Start with a salary package circa £30,000 (including London allowances).
- Visit our Met Careers Website to find out more and to apply

DO THE JOB
THAT CAN TURN INTO A VARIED CAREER

Join the Met's Police Constable Degree Apprenticeship and embark on a rewarding career with countless opportunities, from policing specialist events to working with our firearms, mounted and marine units.

DO SOMETHING REAL BECOME A POLICE OFFICER
SEARCH MET POLICE CAREERS

Start with a salary package c. £30,000, free London travel and discounted rail travel up to 70 miles from Central London.

 METROPOLITAN
POLICE

